Welcome

As part of our continued efforts towards assisting in award enforcement we are working hard as your association to raise the default issue. We know that there will be no ‘one size fits all’ solution, but we want to find the right one in each and every market.

Mediation, country focus groups, strengthening the arbitration process, award enforcement and more - it is safe to say that the clock never stops at the ICA. As my predecessors told me, there is no need to show up with an agenda, there is more than enough to do. They were right.

Visiting key markets

During my time as President we visited roughly 85 per cent of the global cotton consumption and production markets. Within weeks of leaving Dubai after last year's trade event, myself, Vice President Jean Marc Derossis and Managing Director Kai Hughes, were on the road representing and promoting the ICA's interest in Bangladesh for a multi-day stop over. It was then on to Mumbai for the Cotton Association of India's annual meeting. Both were meaningful and fruitful visits.

In Dhaka we met with the UK, Australian and US Embassies in an effort to educate and discuss the ICA arbitral process, the opportunities that mediation holds for dispute resolution and to listen to their guidance and advice around award enforcement.

We also spent significant time with major stakeholders from Bangladesh's largest spinning and textile community, to update them about various initiatives and to hear directly from them how they might be better served by the ICA.

During the early winter a similar effort was made in Pakistan. Over a series of days we met with key industry related organisations and with mill owners and cotton buyers representing approximately two-thirds of Pakistan's total cotton imports. Their experience and observations provided us with valuable insight from a buyers and importers perspective, which we were able to bring back to the ICA.

Safe trading partners

The price volatility of recent years has added to an already long list of unfulfilled awards. In addition to serving the industry as the world's leading arbitral body the ICA has to, if possible, work to bring defaulters back 'inside the tent' and off of the unfulfilled award list. This topic formed part of our conversations in Pakistan, India and Bangladesh and more recently in China at the China Cotton Conference in Ningbo. From there we travelled to Osaka, Japan to officially welcome our newest Affiliated Association Member - the Japan Cotton Traders' Association - and then it was on to Taipei to encourage the Taiwanese Spinners Association to join their peers in Australia, Brazil, Bangladesh, Japan and Korea, who are all now ICA members. These new partners will help to broaden the safe trading environment we already strive to provide and offer us the necessary conduit to spread our message and ideals to every corner of our global industry.

Working hard for you

Since its launch, there has been an increased interest in our new mediation service. Educational and informational workshops have been delivered in Turkey and Pakistan for interested parties and we are happy to deliver more. As part of our continued efforts towards assisting in award enforcement the ICA is working hard to raise the default issue as part of the Trans Pacific Partnership (TPP) talks in Vietnam. We know that there will be no 'one size fits all' solution to award enforcement, but we are working hard as your association to find the right one in each and every market where there are outstanding awards.

The ICA and its intolerance of defaulters has always been the hallmark of this industry - a philosophy that still holds true to this day. The more the industry changes, the more the ICA remains consistent in its efforts to maintain the safe trading environment that our trade needs and deserves. There is no alternative if we are to endure and prosper in the seasons and years ahead.

Jordan Lea
ICA President

Future plans

The stability and sustainability of the industry is paramount and that is why we are working hard on your behalf to introduce new initiatives that will offer support.

It is perhaps a paradox that only last year we were still talking about the after effects of the 2011/12 market volatility, yet today we are suffering the effects of a stagnant market. The depressed state is squeezing margins and arbitrations are currently at an all-time low, with less than 50 predicted for completion this year. The stability and sustainability of the industry is paramount and that is why we are working hard on your behalf to introduce new initiatives that will offer support.

Insuring for the future

As we go to print the ICA Mutual Insurance Company has been launched and will be accepting its first members from 1 January 2016. Initially it will provide insurance for legal actions against our arbitrators and the legal costs of enforcing an award. This innovation is another first in the commodities sector and is attracting a lot of interest from other associations.

Access to industry training is vital and our plans to develop a University Certificate and Diploma in Commodity Management, underpinned by the University of Liverpool, are set to go live at the end of 2015 (subject to final approval from the ICA Board). Available on-line, from the comfort of your own home, this is an excellent way to enhance your career prospects and obtain a globally recognised qualification from a world class university.

Based on delegate feedback and demand, we are now re-evaluating our training provision. We want to increase the range of 'short courses' we offer and revolutionise the way we deliver them - making them globally accessible to a wider audience via new technology and digital media so watch this space.

New innovations and expansion

Proud of our innovative approach and our use of technology, we are exploring how we can speed up the production of arbitration awards via digital signatures and how we can use advances in existing technology to register contracts electronically.

But perhaps the greatest potential for 2016 lies with ICA Bremen, our quality testing and research centre that was formed four years ago as a joint venture company with the Bremer Baumwollbörse.

The laboratory has undergone a major refurbishment and expansion and is now home to a range of state of the art facilities. Later this year it will join USDA as one of the two classing authorities on the new World Cotton Contract (WCC) - a move that required a change in US law and approval from the US Senate. Tied into the WCC will be the ICA Bremen certified laboratories - currently only three of the 25 applicants have been certified, which is testimony to the high standards required and a catalyst in raising the quality bar throughout the industry.

Cotton fibre traceability

The centre's research into traceability is a major step forward. Working with specialised partners, it is now possible to add a substance to cotton fibre at the ginning stage and measure the percentage to a high degree of accuracy in the final garment simply by scanning it. This has worked in the laboratory and the next step is to run trials in field conditions. We are now working hard to raise the finance and select the right partners to make it happen. This will be a huge plus for major brands and retailers, as well as for growers, replacing the current 'tagging' systems and cutting out the need for supply chain certification processes.

And to end on a high, the ICA website has just won the Trade Association Forum's (TAF) website of the year award. TAF consists of over 2,400 trade associations and we were up against some stiff competition. It is a fantastic achievement and highlights how your association is an industry leader. Long may it continue.

Kai Hughes

ICA Managing Director

Since 1841, the ICA has protected and promoted the interests of the global cotton trade. One of its main goals is to create a safe trading environment for all.

What is the ICA?

The ICA - or the International Cotton Association - is the world's leading cotton trade association and arbitral body.

It began life in 1841 in Liverpool, UK, when a group of cotton brokers came together to create a set of trading rules to help regulate the sale and purchase of raw cotton.

Today, the majority of the world's raw cotton is still traded internationally under ICA rules. The rules have changed with time, but their aim remains the same - to create a safe trading environment.

The ICA now has more than 550 members. Its membership spans all corners of the globe and represents all sectors of the cotton supply chain (buyers, sellers, growers, spinners, merchants, agents and allied trades).

As well as its trading rules, the ICA offers a range of services that include arbitration, mediation, training, workshops, conferences, trade events, networking forums and publications plus cotton testing and research via ICA Bremen.

About us

Our mission is to protect the legitimate interests of all those who trade cotton, whether buyer or seller.

Our reputation is built on integrity, reliability, impartiality, international recognition and accreditation.

Our long term vision is to ensure contract sanctity in the global trade of cotton.

Highlights of the year

A new service, new initiatives and strategic new members provided us with plenty of highlights throughout the year.

Remembering the fallen

As part of the 2014 centenary events to commemorate World War One, hundreds of people joined us at the site of the ICA's 'Unknown Soldier' statue on Liverpool's historic Exchange Flags to take part in a special Armistice Day remembrance service to pay homage to the servicemen and women who lost their lives in battle.

Dubai 2014

More than 600 delegates from the global cotton community joined us at our 'Dubai 2014' trade event. Nine international speakers took to the stage and there was plenty of opportunity for delegates to network and do business over the two day event.

Top for training

More than 300 delegates have benefited from our training this year. Complete Cotton was another sell-out, as was the China Cotton Trade Training we ran in Nanjing with Beijing Cotton Outlook Consulting. We also visited Turkey and Bangladesh to run workshops on contracting, disputes and the ICA Bylaws & Rules.

New associations boost safe trade

BCI (Better Cotton Initiative), Turkey's Good Cotton Practices Association (IPUD) and the Japan Cotton Traders' Association (pictured) became ICA members, helping to reinforce and promote safe trading right across the supply chain.

ICA Bremen's fab lab

Dr Gerd Müller the German Minister for Economic Cooperation and Development officially opened ICA Bremen's new, state of the art cotton testing laboratory.

SMART website wins award

Our 'SMART' website won the prestigious Trade Association Forum's Website of the Year award. Up against stiff competition the award was a great achievement.

Hello to mediation

In January we launched our brand new mediation service. An alternative, flexible and cost effective dispute resolution service open to ICA members and non-members that can take place before, during and after arbitration.

Financial summary

Arbitration income was down for the year - a major factor contributing to the reduction in our post-tax surplus.

For 2014 we reported a post-tax surplus of £273,484
- a reduction of 30 per cent on the previous year.

Operating conditions remained stable during 2014, with arbitration requests reaching 45. This figure was down on the previous year (76 requests in 2013) and marks a return to our normal yearly average, following the record high of 247 requests in 2012. This meant that arbitration income was down for the year, which was the major factor contributing to the reduction in our post-tax surplus.

Our vision is to see zero arbitrations, with all contracts being honoured and all disputes being settled amicably, so this trend is a positive one, although it is very difficult to predict how many arbitration requests we will receive year on year.

The fluctuation in the dollar rate at the time of membership renewals led to a slight drop in membership income, but membership numbers actually grew by 6 per cent.

Income from events remained high due to good cost control and higher delegate numbers than expected at our trade event, which was held in Dubai and at our Complete Cotton training programme, which was another sell-out. Our income was also boosted later in the year when the dollar rate swung in our favour.

Strict control was maintained over all administrative expenses with an overall increase of just 2.5 per cent.

Independent Auditor's report to the members of The International Cotton Association Limited

We have audited the financial statements of The International Cotton Association Limited for the year ended 31 December 2014. The financial reporting framework that has been applied in their preparation is applicable law and the Financial Reporting Standard for Smaller Entities (effective April 2008) (United Kingdom Generally Accepted Accounting Practice applicable to Smaller Entities).

This report is made solely to the company's members, as a body, in accordance with Chapter 3 of Part 16 of the Companies Act 2006. Our work has been undertaken so that we might state the company's members those matters we are required to state to them in an auditors' report and for no other purpose. To the fullest extent permitted by law, we do not accept or assume responsibility to anyone other than the company and the company's members as a body, for our audit work, for this report, or for the opinions we have formed.

Respective responsibilities of directors and auditors

As explained more fully on the Directors' Responsibilities Statement set out in the statutory accounts, the directors are responsible for the preparation of the financial statements and for being satisfied that they give a true and fair view. Our responsibility is to audit and express an opinion on the financial statements in accordance with applicable law and International Standards on Auditing (UK and Ireland). Those standards require us to comply with the Auditing Practices Board's Ethical Standards for Auditors.

Scope of the audit of the financial Statements

An audit involves obtaining evidence about the amounts and disclosures in the financial statements sufficient to give reasonable assurance that the financial statements are free from material misstatement, whether caused by fraud or by error. This includes an assessment of: whether the accounting policies are appropriate to the company's circumstances and have been consistently applied and adequately disclosed; the reasonableness of significant accounting estimates made by the directors; and the overall presentation of the financial statements. In addition we read all the financial and non-financial information in the Director's Report to identify material inconsistencies with the audited financial statements. If we become aware of any apparent material misstatements or inconsistencies we consider the implications for our report.

Opinion on financial statements

In our opinion the financial statements:

- give a true and fair view of the state of the company's affairs as at 31 December 2014 and of its profit for the year then ended;
- have been properly prepared in accordance with the United Kingdom Generally Accepted Accounting Practice applicable to Smaller Entities; and
- have been prepared in accordance with the requirements of the Companies Act 2006.

Opinion on other matter prescribed by the Companies Act 2006

In our opinion the information given in the Directors' Report for the financial year for which the financial statements are prepared is consistent with the financial statements.

Matters on which we are required to report by exemption

We have nothing to report in respect of the following matters where Companies Act 2006 requires us to report to you if, in our opinion:

- adequate accounting records have not been kept, or returns adequate for our audit have not been received from branches not visited by us; or
- the financial statements are not in agreement with the accounting records and returns; or
- certain disclosures of directors' remuneration specified by law are not made; or
- we have not received all of the information and explanations we require for our audit
- the directors were not entitled to prepare the financial statements in accordance with the small companies' regime and take advantage of the small companies' exemption in preparing the directors' report.

Services for you

If you want to operate in a safe trading environment and protect your business against potential trade risks and disputes, the ICA can help.

Bylaws & Rules

The majority of the world's raw cotton is traded internationally under ICA Bylaws & Rules. Designed to promote 'safe trading', the ICA Bylaws & Rules regulate the international trade of cotton between buyers and sellers. Constantly reviewed and updated, they can be applied to contracts covering the purchase and sale of cotton between any two companies anywhere in the world.

Membership

From cotton growing and spinning to insurance and shipping, any firm or individual involved in the cotton trade can apply for ICA membership.

With more than 550 members, including the world's major cotton companies, our membership spans the globe and represents all sectors of the supply chain. There are a range of membership packages available to suit every type and size of business.

If you are not already a member, here are five reasons why you should join:

1. It shows the world cotton market that you support safe trading and contract sanctity
2. It offers you protection against contract disputes and cost savings on ICA arbitration
3. It enables you to be part of the ICA cotton community - sharing best practice and driving industry standards
4. It provides you with global exposure and trade opportunities
5. It offers you discounts on ICA services - arbitration, training, events, cotton testing and more - plus access to the 'ICA Safe Trading Search' to check the trading status of a firm

Arbitration

When contract disputes arise, the ICA provides the leading, internationally recognised arbitration service and if you trade under ICA Bylaws & Rules you have the right to apply. If you do, you will receive an impartial service that upholds the sanctity of contracts and promotes good trading practice. You also gain our commitment to ensure that disputes are settled as quickly as possible. You do not have to be a member to apply for ICA arbitration, but if you are, you will receive a significant discount on the cost.

Mediation

Open to ICA members and non-members, mediation is an alternative, flexible and cost effective dispute resolution service that can take place before, during and after arbitration. Conducted confidentially and facilitated by a neutral person - the mediator - mediation helps parties work towards a negotiated agreement of a dispute or difference, with the parties in ultimate control of the decision. It can be conducted when and where you like, at your pace.

Training

Our training has provided an excellent grounding for many of today's influential players in the cotton world. Combining practical industry training with career and personal development opportunities, it is available to both ICA members and non-members and currently includes:

- Agent Training
- Arbitrator Training
- China Cotton Trade (in partnership with Beijing Cotton Outlook Consulting)
- Complete Cotton
- Contracting Under ICA Bylaws & Rules
- Cotton Classing & Testing (via ICA Bremen)
- Managing Risk

Events

Designed to engage and strengthen the cotton community, we facilitate a number of key events each year. From international workshops, seminars and networking forums to our annual trade conference and dinner, each event aims to boost trade opportunities, share best practice and increase industry awareness.

Contracts

The ICA contract generator enables you to create a contract online and instantly email it to the other party. You can tailor the contract to include special clauses and terms and save it as a 'template' so that you can use it when creating your next contract. The facility also gives you immediate access to the full text of the relevant ICA Bylaws & Rules.

Laboratory testing and research

ICA Bremen is an 'international centre of excellence' for cotton testing, research and quality training. Based in Bremen, Germany, the centre provides a range of specialist services that include international laboratory certification, laboratory testing, quality arbitration, round trials, cotton grade standards, research and development, cotton classing and testing training and consultancy.

A global leader in cotton

Olam is the world's leading originator, processor and merchandiser of cotton. Our unmatched origin presence, expertise in managing risks in the supply chain and the capability to offer a universal product range, has enabled us to carve out a leading, competitive position in the international cotton market.

At the heart of our core competence is the ability to manage emerging market risks which is derived from our direct presence in all major producing and consuming markets. The volatile commodity environment poses a significant challenge in controlling risks and protecting margins. Olam has addressed these concerns through development of in-house customised and affordable risk management solutions for growers and spinners.

Olam is committed to ensuring the cotton it sources is subject to the best production and processing practices. Improving the livelihoods of rural farming communities in emerging markets is an integral part of our business. We believe in creating value for all our stakeholders.
